1926 — Graduates of Foreign Universities Archives and Special Collections on Women in Medicine

Class of 1991

Thy eternal providence has appointed me to watch over the life and health of Thy creatures. May the love for my art actuate me at all times; may neither avarice nor miserliness, nor thirst for glory, or a great reputation engage my mind; for the enemies of truth and philanthropy could easily deceive me and make me forgetful of my lofty aim of doing good to Thy children.

May I never see in the patient anything but a fellow creature in pain.

Grant me the strength, time and opportunity always to correct what I have acquired, always to extend its domain; for knowledge is immense and the spirit of man can extend indefinitely to enrich itself daily with new requirements.

Today he can discover his errors of yesterday and tomorrow he can obtain a new light on what he thinks himself sure of today. Oh God, Thou had appointed me to watch over the life and death of Thy creatures; here I am ready for my vocation and now I turn unto my calling.

—The Oath of Maimonides

You are never given a wish without also being given the power to make it true. You may have to work for it, however.
- Richard Bach

And meeting again, after moments or lifetimes, is certain for those who are friends.
—Richard Bach
Thanks to those who were there when I didn't make it easy.

"And what is as important as knowledge?" asked the mind. "Caring and seeing with the heart," answered the soul.
—Anonymous

And it is still true, no matter how old you are — when you go out into the world, it is best to hold hands and stick together.

—Robert Fulgham

Surgeons must be very careful When they take the knife! Underneath their fine incisions Stirs the Culprit — Life!
—Emily Dickinson

...to know even one life has breathed easier because you have lived. This is to have succeeded.
— Emerson

If one advances confidently in the directions of his dreams, and endeavors to live the life which he has imagined, he will meet with a success unexpected in common hours.
—Thoreau

The bond that links your true family is not one of blood, but of respect and joy in each other's life. Rarely do members of one family grow up under the same roof.

I asked God for strength that I might achieve, I was made weak, that I might learn to humbly obey
I asked for health, that I might do greater things, I was given infirmity, that I might do better things
I asked for riches, that I might be happy, I was given poverty, that I might be wise
I asked for all things, that I might enjoy life, I was given life, that I might enjoy all things
I got nothing that I asked for, almost despite myself, my unspoken prayers were answered
I am among all men, most richly blessed. Author Unknown

Mom and Dad, thank you for your belief in me and your constant sacrifice on my behalf. My success is also yours. I love you very much.

I do not know when it was that I understood that it is precisely this hell in which we wage our lives that offers us the energy, the possibility to care for each other. A surgeon does not slip from his mother's womb with compassion smeared upon him like the drippings of his birth. It is much later that it comes. No easy shaft of grace this, but the cumulative murmuring of the numberless wounds he has dressed, the incisions he has made, all the sores and ulcers and cavities he has touched in order to heal. In the beginning it is barely audible, a whisper, as from many mouths. Slowly it gathers, rising from the streaming flesh until, at last, it is a pure calling — an exclusive sound, like the cry of certain solitary birds — telling that out of the resonance between the sick man and the one who tends him there may spring that profound courtesy that the religious call love.

—Richard Selzer, Mortal Lessons

John, love of my life, thank you for your endless patience, kind voice, and warm smile, without which I would not be what I have become.

Someday, after we have mastered the winds, the waves, the tides, and gravity, we shall harness for God the energies of love. Then for the second time in the history of the world, man will have discovered fire.

To my colleagues: Always remember 'the inner reality creates the outer form so hold on tight to your character. Also remember that 'laughter is the best medicine' so don't ever forget how to laugh. Best of luck in all you do.

To my family: My success is your success. I could not have made it without you. I am forever grateful.

To Eric: Thank you for just being there. You are very special to me.
